

ABSTRACT

A method and an apparatus to provide optical equipment protection have been disclosed. In one embodiment, the method includes sending a first optical signal from an optical transceiver to a wavelength switch module (WSM), checking a second optical signal received by the optical transceiver after sending the first optical signal, and determining whether the second optical signal corresponds to the first optical signal. Other embodiments have been claimed and described.